All School Staff

From Dianne Litzenburger, Char-Em ISD
Director of Communication Services

What Char-Em ISD's Area Wide PD Day, November 4, 2009
Currently we have only about half of the expected participants registered for the Area Wide Professional Development Day on Wednesday, November 4, at Boyne City Public Schools. We would like registration to be completed by Friday, October 23, 2009, so please encourage your staff to sign up by visiting the Char-Em ISD website at www.charemisd.org and clicking on Professional Development.

All staff new to the Coursewhere professional development online registration program will have to follow the instructions to create their registrant profile in order to register. Any questions or problems with the registration process should be directed to Julie Hersha at hershaj@charemisd.org.

We have a full day of outstanding sessions for you and your staff at this annual event, including a keynote by Yong Zhao entitled "Catching Up or Leading the Way: American Education in the Age of Globalization."

In addition, we have a talented speaker presenting "Tools for Success: Social Media for Your School." This afternoon session is tailored specifically to superintendents/principals/technology staff members who are decision makers in their district/building for how or if social media can be used. Please take advantage of this session and sign up.

Please encourage your staff to register today and definitely no later than noon, Friday, October 23, 2009! Thank you.
