

Custodial and Non-Custodial Parents and Easy IEP

When adding a Parent/Guardian/Other to a student's Easy IEP record, you must indicate whether or not the student lives with a particular individual. In the case of a married couple, this is not an issue. If parents are divorced and the student lives with only one parent (the custodial parent), when you add the non-custodial parent's name and address, you typically take the checkmark OUT of the box that states "Student Lives Here".

The consequence of removing this checkmark, is that the non-custodial parent's name and address will NOT appear on the printed IEP. If you would like both parents' names and addresses to appear on the printed IEP, be sure to have the "Student Lives Here" checkbox checked on both entries (even though the student only lives with one parent).
